Image Guidelines

High-quality imagery increases conversion and decreases the likelihood of negative reviews or returns.

Optimal image count improves SEO rankings and drives customers to your product pages.

Images that do not meet specifications may appear distorted and may not be published to the site.

Image Requirements

Image Requirements:

1. All images must be in focus, professionally lit and photographed.
2. Images must be in color.
3. Products in the images should be clean (unscratched, unblemished, undamaged, no fingerprints, etc.)
4. Silo images should be a solid white background,(R:255, G:255, B:255) with no ground shadows unless indicated in the Product Direction for that Product Type. (Does not apply to Graphics, Lifestyle, or other full-bleed images.)
5. The main image should not contain additional graphics, illustrations, logos, watermarks, overlays or text. Doing so can cause you to be removed from google search results.
6. Images should be centered in the frame.
7. Silo images should be cropped with a 5% border from the edge of the product image to the nearest edge of the frame. Depending on product shape (tall vs wide) this will be either the vertical or horizontal axis. White space should be present on the smaller image dimension to achieve the square image aspect ratio.
8. Lifestyle, Graphics, and Detail images should not have any border.
9. Do NOT enlarge small images to fill space or meet required pixel dimensions. This reduces image quality.
10. Follow A11y guidelines to ensure all imagery adheres to ADA compliance.

Prohibited Imagery:

1. Images that display explicit nudity or vulgar language. Images that contain obscene material, sexually suggestive, or pornography.
2. Images that contain images of nude or partially nude minors.
3. Images that either portray, glorify or promote in an insensitive way: animal cruelty, any historical or news events, criminal or illegal activity, derogatory stereotyping based on race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, religion, or nationality, hatred, intolerance, natural or man-made disaster(s), tragedy or violence.
4. Images of products marketed to or targeted at kids or teenagers that are not age appropriate.
5. Images that do not reflect the product or associated product description.
6. Selfies or imagery shot on phone cameras.

The above prohibited content applies to ALL RICH MEDIA as well (videos, 360 spins, marketing content, etc.)

Tattoos on models are okay as long as they are smaller in appearance and follow all prohibited guidelines stated in items 1-3 above.

Image Attributes

All imagery falls into 3 image attributes. The image attribute is essentially the URL of your image. Below are the definitions for each of these images you will need to understand when creating your content:

- 1. Main Image - Also known as the hero image; this image is used as the primary photo for the product detail page (PDP.) It is the core selling image that appears when customers browse products and the first image customers see when they click into a PDP. This is a required attribute.
- 2. Additional Images - Also called AV or secondary images; these images are supplemental to the hero image to provide additional visual information to the customer and will appear after the main image as the customer clicks through the image carousel. This is a required attribute.
- 3. Swatch Images - Swatch imagery shows different colorways, patterns, finishes or versions of the main hero image product. Swatch images are uploaded as color tiles under the swatch image URL attribute, not product images. Swatch images will be used for variant group product listings. For more information on variants, see Variant Grouping Guidelines.

Item Page Example

Image Attributes

If adding an image during item setup or maintenance spec, you will need to enter these keys for images:

Main Image URL

KEY: main_image OR product_image_url

Additional Image URL

KEY: product_secondary_image_url

Swatch Image URL

KEY: swatch_image_url

Uploading Information

If you use a web service to host images (so that you have a URL) consider your privacy. When hosting images with a web service your images may be open to public access.

OneDrive and Dropbox links WILL NOT WORK when filling out this information in the spec. This value must be a static URL and have no redirections.

For more information on accepted URLs and how to create a proper URL, please review this article.

Image Types - Parent

Below are definitions and examples for the 4 image types used when creating content. These image types are referenced on the following pages to define which images are needed for each product type.

Silo

1. Silo: Product shot on a seamless white background (R:255, G:255, B:255) & product does not touch the edge of the frame.

- Be consistent with main image angles. If you have multiple items within a product type, shoot them at the same time.
- Silo images may be in-pack, out-of-pack, composites, sets and include side views, back, angles, etc.
- Silo images can include models, props, or display the product in use.

Lifestyle

2. Lifestyle: Product featured in a professionally styled environment or surface with creative lighting.

- The environment or surface should always be deliberate and appropriate to the product. Emphasis on the product itself and should reference the packaging.
- May be executed with or without models.
- Image should be cropped “full bleed” to a square and fill the frame touching all edges (no borders.)

Graphics

3. Graphics: Product information whether presented as a graphic or close-up photo.

- These can include, but are not limited to: feature callouts, silo with dimensions, scale avatar, etc.
- Image should have information or symbols which are intended to be read (except for the copy on the actual product packaging.)
- For legal purposes, Made in the USA & FSC certifications/claims are not allowed to be shown as stand-alone graphics. If they are present on the in-pack shot, that is acceptable.

Detail

4. Detail: Images that display a portion or close-up of the product, concentrating on a specific feature or attribute of the item.

- Close-ups or other information whose intent is to have the words read by the viewer should be classified as Graphics.

Image Types - Graphics

The following Graphics Child Image Types are commonly used or required for most Product Types covered in this guide.

SILO WITH DIMENSIONS

An image that depicts a full side (usually the main silo) of the product with dimensions applied to the side of the product to illustrate scale.

Here's how to create one:

- Start with a silo image. The product should be at an angle so the depth of the product is showing (ideally this would be the same image as your base or an AV image so you don't have to shoot a new image, just apply the dimensions in Photoshop.)

Applying the Dimensions

- Dimensions should use the font, Myriad Pro Semibold or an alternate similar looking sans-serif typeface
- Dimensions should be listed out in inches (round to the nearest hundredth) - abbreviated as "
- Dimensions should be 100% Black or Gray and should be large enough to quickly read on mobile
- Lines indicating the dimensions should be 75% Black or Gray and 2-4 pixels in width (no arrows, dots or intersecting 'caps' at the end of the lines)
- Include width, depth and height for larger items and home pieces that customers need specific measurements to fit a space
- Smaller items or items might only need width and height or even just height
 - Additional dimensions such as 'cube opening' for cube storage or the size of a TV that fits on a TV stand can also be included if they are pertinent to the customer's buying decision.
- Center the dimensions in relation to the length of the line and place it on top of the line or beside it
- Place a solid white box behind the dimensions to 'cut-through' the line for legibility of the dimensions

SCALE AVATAR

An image that depicts a full side (usually the main silo) of the product with dimensions + graphic(s) such as a human body form or human hand to illustrate the dimensions/size of the product. If the product is shorter than 5" in height, use the hand form. If it is between 5"-11", use the body form. Anything larger than 11" in height will utilize the Silo with Dimensions image.

Image Styling

Setting

Show the products in a bright and fresh environment. It's important to set the stage for what the customer's life will look like with the products. The product should always be shown in a real life scenario, being used rather than staged. Always try to incorporate architectural elements in any given shot, a hint of a chair, shelf, window frame will help give a sense of space. Rooms should remain neat, uncluttered and traditional with modern touches. When shooting tabletop items, use textured surfaces not to look man-made. The surface should complement the product, without overpowering it. Seeing the edge of a surface, creating layers or horizon line can help the surface avoid looking like flooring. Avoid heavy distress marks, too many wood knots or grooves.

Silo Angles & Views

Each item's unique packaging will inform the execution of specific angles and views. Required views and guidance for optional views are indicated in the Product Direction sections for each Product Type. A general starting point is to photograph each unique and meaningful side of the product package. When photographing round or irregular shapes, present the side(s) such that printed information/graphics are centered and legible to the viewer. The "Front View" of a product will be the side that contains the predominant brand and labeling; format, variant and size/quantity.

Silo Lighting

Products should be evenly lit from side to side and top to bottom. Exposure and color should correctly represent the item being photographed. Care should be taken to ensure good separation between the product and background, maintaining details in the product whites and avoiding any flare or spill.

Lifestyle Lighting

When shooting outdoors, shoot earlier morning or evening time (golden hour) to avoid sharp, long shadows

Silo Post Production

Items should be "clipped" or removed from the photographed background so that they are presented on pure white (R:255 G:255 B:255). Retouch to remove any dirt, dust, fingerprints, damage, or other blemishes from the product. Remove any stickers or printed information which is unique to the sample (but not the product.) If items were used to secure or manipulate the product to hold a certain shape or pose, such as fishing line, sticky tack, zip ties, etc. remove all of these in post as well.

Focus

The subtle use of selective focus is a helpful tool to ensure that the photography is uncluttered and easy to understand. Sharp focus can be used on the featured product to help depict it as the hero in the frame or draw attention to a key product feature. Slightly softer focus on the background or foreground along with white space around the product help simplify the image. This does not apply when shooting an item out of packaging with the product's packaging also in shot. For example, a bottle of medicine in the foreground, and the medicine box off to the side. Both items MUST BE in focus since they are both the product and so you can identify/read the packaging as well.

Props

The environment the products are shot in can quickly date the photos. Be selective about props and don't include too many decorative elements or people with accessories that may go out of style or distract from the product. Note that the imagery will be used online season after season, unless specifically requested, use only non seasonal specific props.

Model Usage

When casting talent, diversity is encouraged. Make sure the model's age is appropriate for the product featured. Use candid and natural expressions. Be genuine. Show people using products as they would in real life. Models should be engaged with the product, not focused on camera. Realistic moments are key. The shot should not feel like it is styled to the camera, but rather the camera is catching a glimpse of an authentic moment.

Copy Guidelines

Great copy can not only attract more customers to your page through Search Engine Optimization (SEO) and Search Engine Marketing (SEM), but also help the customer convert and prevent returns.

There are some requirements you are legally obligated to include in your copy, and other formatting requirements that will ensure a cohesive customer experience on the site.

Failure to follow these copy standards will result in delays and rejections of your items at setup, as well as existing items' removal from the site.

Search Engine Optimization

SEO, or Search Engine Optimization, is an important part of product content. It helps your products rank higher on external search engines, like Google, Yahoo! and Bing.

How to Optimize Your Product's Copy Descriptions:

Focus on how a customer would organically search an item, based on the item name and key features. By using key descriptive words in not only the long description but reiterated in the short description as well, you increase the chances of a customer landing on your item page.

- Provide unique, relevant content that is truly useful to the user
- Do not add filler, fluffy or spammy content and avoid keyword stuffing
- Repeat the product name once in the product short description
- Do not provide the same copy to multiple online retailers – it needs to be unique and original to Walmart.

How to Optimize Imagery, Video and other Rich Media Assets:

Remember, search engines are “blind.” Ensure all visual assets are visible to search.

- Use image/video/asset name and alt text fields for maximum customer and search value.
- Label all rich content assets with the product name to boost SEO value. This only applies to items hosted through a 3rd Party Provider. PDP Imagery must be named with the GTIN.
- Provide all content fields required and recommended at item setup. Enhanced content keeps customers engaged and search engines paying attention.

Search engine traffic accounts for most of the visits and revenue your item page receives. Items whose descriptions follow the above guidelines get ranked higher in search engine results and see a 10-20% bump in SEO visits and revenue!

Copy Standards

Warm

- Friendly
- Empathetic
- Caring

- Considerate
- Thoughtful
- Resourceful

Genuine

- Down-to-earth
- Approachable
- Relatable
- Authentic

You Should

- Use an active voice
- Speak to benefits
- Say more with fewer words

You Should Avoid

- Hyperbolic or Overpromising statements (“everyone's favorite brand”) (“organic produce will save the environment!”)
- Guarantees or Testimonials (“you'll lose 5 pounds after eating these bars”)
- The use of all-caps, unless it is a brand requirement and symbols, such as © and ™

Base-Variant Copy

For items sold as base-variants (multiple colors and/or sizes), Product Names, Short Descriptions, Key Features and Search Descriptions should not include color and/or size information. This information will be included on the item pages.

Copy Definitions

Definitions

There are three copy fields that we use to speak to our customers. We want to deliver high-impact content that informs and entices the customer through the use of key descriptive words that define the selling points of an item while increasing the findability of the product. All of the following 3 copy fields are required attributes that must be properly filled out and completed for item setup.

1. Product Name/Product Title

Product titles are extremely valuable pieces of content. Good titles drive discoverability, customer decision making, SEO/SEM, and make for better site experiences.

2. Site Description/Short Description

The short description includes an overview of the key selling points of the product, marketing content and product highlights. It is a key time to bring out the personality of the brand. Well-written short descriptions help the customer imagine the experience of owning or handling your product.

3. Key Features/Long Description

The key features section not only identifies the product's key features, but also the benefits and item specifications. Testing shows that well-crafted bullet points increase sales. Customers rely on them to understand key product features as they highlight important or distinguishing facts about your product when making their purchasing decision.

The following pages specify how to properly fill in these 3 required copy attributes

1. Product Name Guidelines

Also known as the Product Title

Max 90 Characters

- Product names become the title of the page and the most important text that is searched for SEO (DO NOT keyword stuff - ie, “Great for kids”, “Great for the office!” or “Stuffed Animal, Perfect Christmas Gift”)
- A good title needs to fit in the “Goldilocks Zone”; not too short, not too long. The ideal length differs by product type and the following formulas will help you achieve the right range.
- Because mobile devices will cut off product titles after a certain character count, ensure you lead with most important and defining parts of your product title at the beginning of the title so they are visible. The formulas defined on the proceeding pages will have the attributes in order of importance.
- Create a unique, specific product name that isn’t used word-for-word on other websites.
- If the color of your item is something that customers are likely to search for, include color in the product name.
- If your item is grouped as a variant, include the available variant attributes (i.e. colors, finish, size) in the Key Features & Description, not in the variant name. For example: the variant name should be “Better Homes & Gardens 2” Cordless Faux Wood Blinds, Multiple Colors, 36” x 64”. The product name would be “Better Homes & Gardens 2” Cordless Faux Wood Blinds, Rustic Gray, 36” x 64”.”
- The first letter of each word should be capitalized, except for articles, conjunctions, prepositions, and acronyms. Titles should also not be written in all caps unless it is legally capitalized, for example, NESCAFE is a brand legally identified on the product package in all caps.
- The title should contain key subject word(s) that describe its respective product type (e.g., items within the candle holder product type should have a word like “lantern” or “candlestick” in the title.)
- Special characters [‘~’, ‘!’, ‘*’, ‘$’, ‘#’, ‘^’, ‘~’, ‘@’, ‘/’, ‘|’] should not be used in titles. Apostrophes are okay if that is how the legal name of the brand is represented. For example “Stouffer’s.”
- Titles with promotional phrases such as “best selling” or “free shipping” are not allowed.
- Do not use “or” language in the title which implies multiple product types i.e. “Headboard or Footboard.”
- This is a required attribute

2. Site Description Guidelines

Also known as the Short Description

Minimum 60 words required - 100 words recommended

- Information entered here should be in HTML code, sentence case, paragraph form no bullet points:
 - Short Description
- The description is key to Search Engine Optimization (SEO) because customers search in ways that match real-life uses and concerns
- No promotional text like free shipping or discounts, no special characters or hyperlinks to other retailers
 - It is okay to leave promotional text that talks about other items included in the product line, such as accessories, other colors or variations available, other products they manufacturer that work with the item, etc.
- No text that promotes another retailer or redirects you to another website. It should not have any mention of another retailer unless it is related to the product.
 - Example of what isn't allowed: Buy on Amazon!
- For SEO purposes, repeat the product name within the body of the description.
- Ensure your description is unique (i.e., not copied from other sites) and is truly useful for customers. Avoid too much repetition.
- Do not fill with information that would be pointless to the buyer. When crafting the short description, put yourself in your customers' shoes: what would they want to feel, touch, think, want? This is as close as you can come to creating an in-store experience for the online customer.
- How many different ways might people search for this item? If you miss a synonym (or keyword) in your description (e.g. you call the product "sandals" but some customers might call them flip flops"), you can miss out on a portion of customers looking for it.
- Be clear and conversational when writing. You're helping customers make an informed decision; you're not trying to sell them on anything. Some slang is acceptable – as long as it doesn't break an authentic, straightforward tone – since it captures more key terms.
- Use related keywords within the short description. A good way to figure out keywords for your product is to use the values for the attributes you populate. For example, if on the attribute "Recommended Room" you filled out Living Room & Bedroom, these would be could keywords to use in your short description. The keywords should flow organically into the sentences - don't force them.
 - Keywords should describe what the item is, how it is used, how it works, what it looks like, what it feels like, what it is called (other than the given item name, which should also be included), where it can be used, what the customer can do with it, how it is unique, etc.
- This is a required attribute

3. Key Features Guidelines

Also known as the Long Description

Minimum 4 bullets required - 6 bullets recommended

- Begin each bullet point with a capital letter
- Write with sentence fragments and do not include ending punctuation
- Product name should be repeated as the first line, bolded, no bullet
- If you want to add more Key Features, just copy/paste any Key Features column in the spec to create a new entry. You can only do this for attributes with the (+) sign.
- No promotional text like free shipping or discounts, no special characters or hyperlinks to other retailers
 - It is okay to leave promotional text that talks about other items included in the product line, such as accessories, other colors or variations available, other products they manufacturer that work with the item, etc.
- No text that promotes another retailer or redirects you to another website. It should not have any mention of another retailer unless it is related to the product.
 - Example of what isn't allowed: Buy on Amazon!
- Do not repeat the same information from the short description or convert the short description into bullets - your key features must be unique
- Maintain a consistent order. If your first bullet point talks about the product's design followed by recommended use, and then what's included, keep that same order for all your products within the same product type family
- Reiterate important information from the title and description
- No special characters such as #, * or !

Attribution Guidelines

Search and browse experiences are based on populating defined attributes and values. If these values are not completed during item set up, items will not be optimized for search, and will fail to appear when customers click through the filter on assortments using refinement values.

There are also attributes required to ensure your items can be added to cart on the site.

If any of these required fields are not populated, your item will not be published. A list of the attributes and their acceptable values are further defined in this section.

Attribute Definitions

Attribute: A field that describes a feature, functionality, or style of an item (e.g. age group, container type, gender, material, etc.)

- Each product type has its own unique set of attributes

Values: The differentiating information that defines a unique set of items for each attribute. Each attribute has a range of appropriate and acceptable values.

- Some values are a simple Yes/No option
- Some values have a drop-down list to choose from
- Some attributes accept multiple values (allowing you to enter all values that apply to the specified attribute.) While other attributes only allow you to enter a single value. The following pages will note whether multivalues are accepted for specific attributes or not.
- Certain attributes have values that fall into a “Closed List” where there are a limited number of values to choose from (as defined by Walmart)
- If the list is Closed, please only select from the value(s) shown. Do not make up a new value.

The following pages provide a list of example values for the specified attributes with open lists. We encourage you to select from one of the example values provided (if applicable to your item) as these values are already established within the system. Please note, unless noted as a Closed List, the lists are not all-inclusive, you must work closely with your merchant engagement lead if you have any questions about your attribute values.

Why are attributes important?

Walmart.com uses attributes to help our customers find the items they are looking for. There are two main ways they are used for site discoverability.

- Facets (Filters & left-hand navigation)
- Site Shelves (top nav & ‘shop by category’)
 - Customers will either use the facets or site shelves to browse the site, or they will search for something and narrow down the results with them. The values for these attributes are very specific, and if an item doesn’t have the right attribute filled out, is left empty, or filled out with something not listed in the facet or shelving rule, it will be omitted from the results when a selection is made.

In the example shown below, the “Fancy-Dress Costume” product type requires the attribute “character” to be set for the facet. Accepted values include:

- Alice in Wonderland
- BB-8
- Angry Birds
- Barbie
- Avengers
- Batgirl

If the attribute is not populated, or if the field is filled in with a value outside of a pre-defined value, your fancy-dress costumes would not appear when a customer uses the facet navigation, above. The fancy-dress costumes would only be found on either the brand page or by searching specifically for the item.

Rich Media Guidelines

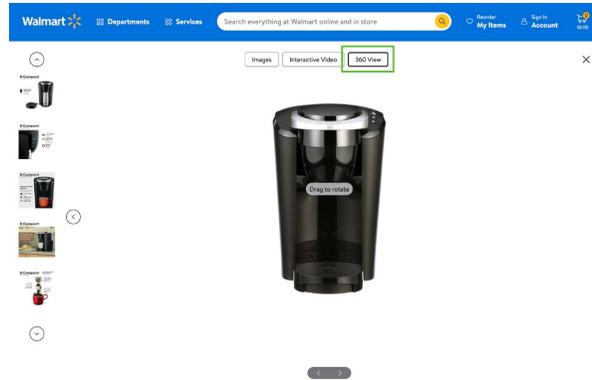

Rich Media is a proven sales booster as it enriches the customer's transaction and contributes to a more authentic human experience, as if they were shopping in a brick and mortar.

There are several rich media modules that can help create an engaging shopping experience while improving brand trust.

Rich Media Index

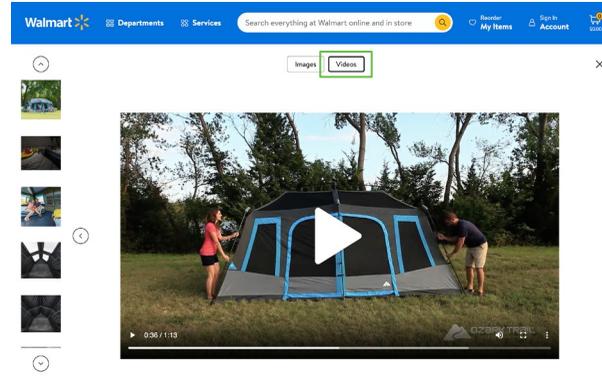

Below are the six Rich Media Modules we encourage you to utilize when creating your item page. 360 Spins & Videos are hosted by Walmart and live above the fold in the image carousel. The other four modules need to go through a CCP for creation and hosting.

360 Spin

A 360 spin is a series of photos that gives the impression of the product rotating. See here for file specs.

Videos

Product videos help customers understand the end use of the product and highlight features. See here for file specs.

Premium Content

Premium or Marketing content is used to provide in-depth features about your product in a more engaging interface.

Required for all videos, even if they have no audio or just music.

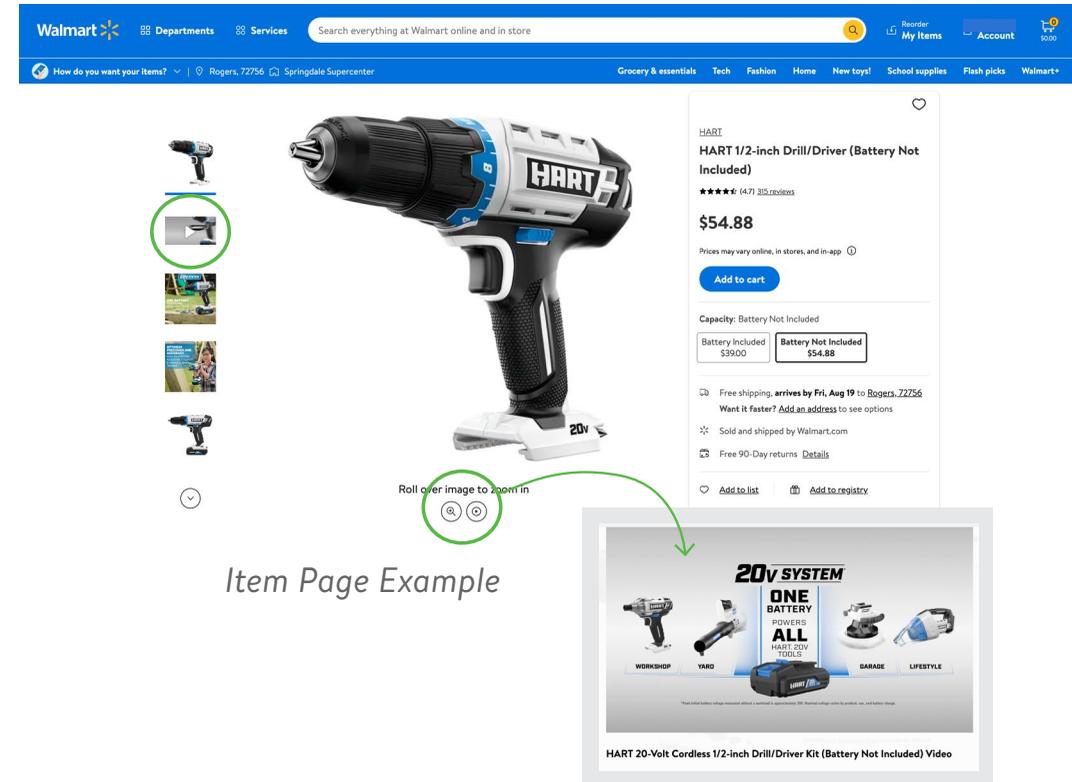

- For videos with only music, you must put a single [MUSIC PLAYING] caption frame that drops off screen after 10 seconds or so.
- For videos with no music, no audio, and no sound, you must put a single [NO AUDIO] caption frame that drops off screen after 10 seconds or so.

2. Audio Description File

- If your video has any meaningful content that is visibly conveyed, that content also needs to be in the form of audio. You must provide a separate audio description file along with your video.
- Example: if your video is of a bicycle assembly and the audio is very general – such as “put this piece in here” – your audio description file is required to explain exactly what pieces are being put where. The test: the audio script is compliant if and only if a blind person can interpret the audio

3. A11Y Checklist

If you would like to submit a 360 spin through this avenue, please follow the guidelines below to ensure it can be properly ingested. 360 spins can also be hosted through a CCP. You can read more about that on the CCP Overview Page.

360 Spin Specs

- File Format: JPEG (.jpg), (.jpeg) or PNG (.png)
- Size: An exact number of 24 image URLs is required for optimal viewing, each individually less than 1MB
 - If you have 12 images, please duplicate them to submit 24
 - If you have more than 24 images, please only select 24 to share
- Images are in order of rotation, clockwise
- Naming (for Marketplace Sellers only):
 - “GTIN_R01_C01, GTIN_R01_C02...GTIN_R01_C24”
 - “GTIN” refers to your item’s GTIN identifier, including leading zeros. Please do not use any other identifier.
 - “R01” refers to “row 1” - Walmart only supports single-plane spin, so all your files will be names R01
 - “C01” “C02”... “C24” refers to “column 1, 2...24” - this is how we tell which order your images will show on site, to create the illusion of a spin
 - Example: 00278915469367_R01_C03 is the 3rd image in the spin
- Categories for 360 Spins: not all products will benefit from a 360 spin. Select products that the customer would benefit from pickup up and touching in-store like a small appliance or piece of furniture, etc.

User-Generated Content

A user-generated content (UGC) strategy done right will increase the discoverability of your products, boost sales, and create a valuable dialogue with your customers. It can also inform SEO benefits, provide insights for product innovation, reduce return rates, and ensure shoppers have a positive experience with your brand.

Ratings + Reviews Walmart recommends a minimum of 20 reviews/item.

Walmart has partnered with various resources to collect and share user-generated content about your products on Walmart.com. Give shoppers the confidence to choose your products over your competitors by providing reviews on your items.

Social Media Integration

Content created by customers, Instagram posts & Facebook interactions, gives potential customers insight into what other customers think about your products. This also includes influencer-generated content like unboxing videos & product reviews.

CCP Program Overview

Connected Content Partners (CCPs) help suppliers manage and synchronize their data across multiple supplier platforms through data feeds. These partners offer a wide range of products and services (such as item setup (US only), syndication, rich media hosting, and content creation, and user-generated content (UGC)) and provide support for issues related to the feeds submitted through them.

While some CCPs offer full-service integration, others only perform specific functions. Each integration is tailored to your specific needs, so you should reach out to the Content Partner directly to learn about their costs, features, and capabilities.

Syndication – Submitting existing supplier content through the CCP partner to Walmart. The Walmart model for content requirements may differ from the supplier’s. Syndication partners help to map these two systems, so content can flow efficiently between the two. These partners implement validation checks based on Walmart’s Style Guides to ensure that the content complies with Walmart’s requirements.

Enrichment – Enriching content means creating an optimized and structured title that is specific to the product, feature bullets that are easy to scan when browsing, detailed copy that thoroughly describes the item in an engaging way, and other attribution elements. All of which will help drive better discoverability and search results.

Rich Media – Rich media includes immersive experiences like product videos, 360 Spins, shoppable modules, comparison charts, instruction manuals, and other interactive features. The options and capabilities of rich media are extensive. Our specialist partners understand the changing nature of our customer base and can create experiences that have the potential to increase sales by creating dynamic listings.

User-Generated Content – Content created by customers like ratings and reviews, Instagram posts, and Facebook interactions. This content gives potential customers insight into what other customers think about your products. This also includes influencer-generated content like unboxing videos and product reviews.

CCP - FAQs

Q: What are the benefits of participating in the CCP Program?

A: There are several benefits to using a CCP:

1. The CCP is integrating the Walmart Style Guide requirements into their processes. This ensures that all content you submit to Walmart through a CCP partner will be compliant as per Walmart requirements.
2. The CCP provides a managed service, so they take care of any issues that come up during publishing or any other technical issue.
3. Most of our recommended CCPs are full-service studios. They can provide photography, copy, and attribution services along with submitting the content to Walmart.

Q: Who is responsible for the cost of participating in the CCP Program?

A: Suppliers/Sellers are responsible for the cost of participating in the CCP Program.

Q: In the future, if I want to update content for an item that is managed by a CCP, can I make edits in Item 360?

A: For Item 360 - Yes, all items will be accessible through Item 360 for your teams to maintain following content ingestion by the CCP.

A: For Seller Center – No, because the CCP has a higher content ranking than the default ranking for the seller. The only sellers who will be able to update their content, are the sellers who have a higher content ranking (Raise Rank or Brand Owner rank.)

Q: What is the difference between Item 360 and CCP?

A: Item 360/Seller Center is the Walmart platform that suppliers/sellers use to manually create and update their items on Walmart. CCP partners use a backend API to submit content to Walmart on your behalf. They do not have access to the Item 360/Seller Center UI.
